"Vindobona" is the Latin name for the City of Vienna and the designation of the international express train that ran from 1957 to 2014. The train covered the distance from Berlin via Dresden and Prague to Vienna for a long time. In its final years, the "Vindobona" travelled from Hamburg via Berlin, Dresden, Prague, Brno and Vienna to Villach. The train got its international character from the changing wagon formations depending on the railway administrations involved (DR, CSD, MAV, JZ, ÖBB). Our coach sets replicate a train in the timetable year 1987/1988.
